

The Word of God

... Christians, come near to Me, wash your faces for the time has come to step on holy earth. All the sinners will perish. The destruction comes; the death comes upon everything in a split of a second. Only those who will not have bowed to sin in one way or another will get away.

Jerusalem, Capernaum, Israel, you will hear the trumpets and when you hear them, you need to know: it will be your calling. For some there will be a great tribulation, and those who are good will step on a heavenly stair.

... Oh, young and old Christian, take a good look at your life so that you may not fall into the fire which is opening on the earth. How far and wide the earth is, all will be a fire, a sea of fire. Everything will burn, in air and water as well. It will light from you who keep your cigarette in your mouth. You Daniel climb up high and look down to all that have the cigarette in your mouth. Who will sweep this basket?

My little children what have you done of your mouth and throat and chest, a mouth of smoke? You Christian, do not burn your mouth as all will be forgiven, but this shall not be forgiven, no one will escape you. Pride came on all to smoke, men and women. Take a good look that for what is today in the world, is the destruction on this world, for what the man commits, no one has done since age. What is today? What is today? It speedily brings fire and judgment.

... My little children, I lost much blood for you and I labored and suffered much for you, but not even a quarter of a day do you suffer from hunger for Me. I told you to fast and you do not fast, and you say that you fast for Me. And you fast unwillingly, as the bread that you eat now when you have to fast, you would have it then.

... The Lord's mother will sweep out everything that is evil on the hearth of this country. He, who is with Me, will remain. The people of God will inherit, as the foreign visitors saw what it is in Romania, and they know what it has under the bed (Under the soil of the country, r.n.), and they can hardly wait to plunder it; however, the lawless one will be burned and then his dust will be scattered by the wind and taken away from this land. Did you hear?

My little children, why have you turned your mouth and your throat into a mouth of smoke? Do not burn your mouth anymore, Christian, for all will be forgiven, but this will not be forgiven, as no one is to save you. Pride came on all so that they may smoke, both man and women. Look carefully for what is today in the world is the destruction of this world, for what does man commit, there has not been since the age. What is today! What is today? It speedily brings the fire and judgment.
